From the Desk of the President

The Great American Outdoor Show has come and gone, and FOAC had a big role to play in it. FOAC leaders were invited to special events hosted by the National Rifle Association. Director Tichenor and I attended the ribbon cutting ceremony, where we spoke with NRA ILA Directors David Conte and Darin Goens, two workhorses in the Commonwealth fighting alongside us for all of our gun rights. We also met with KRPA President and NRA Board Member Todd Ellis to discuss potential future joint endeavors, in addition to speaking with legislators like Sen. Cris Dush, journalists and others invested in the industry.

From the Desk of the VP

Training and practicing are designed to condition us to do predictable things; meaning, the more we do things consistently while training and practicing, the more likely we can predict the things we will do when we need to do them in "real life"...

whatever they are. However, this begs the question: What are the "things" that need to be done and when? What can we confidently predict?

During an attack, can we predict exactly what our stance will be? Can we predict exactly how we will be attacked if we are attacked? Can we predict exactly how many shots it will take to stop the attack? Can we predict exactly what a prosecutor will do post incident? Can we predict exactly what a jury will think in court?

FOAC-ILLEA Podcast Episode 3: An Interview with VP Klint Macro

In this podcast, Eastern PA Director Stephen LaSpina sits down with Vice President Klint Macro to discuss how he came to be the Vice President of FOAC-Institute as well as what his advice would be to a young person desiring to get their start in 2A political activism. We also find out what Klint's favorite gun is, a gun he would never part with, and the best firearms training class he has ever taken.
